INDEX 194

If you look closely, you will see its trace:
a little additional tradition,
the trees are higher,
a class of graduates,
nicks, scratches, wear and tear;
that which was new is changed now;
and we wish to call this change growth.

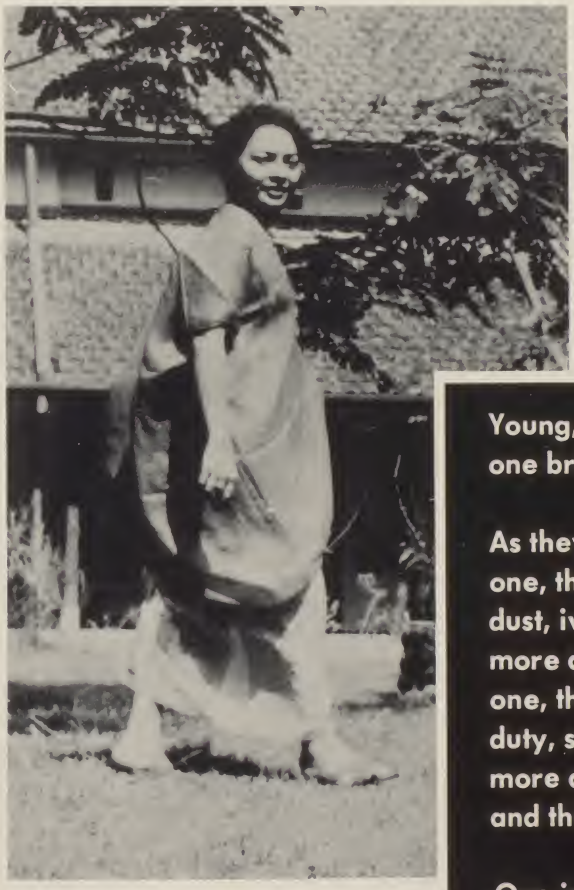
Spectrum 1963



Young, new,
one brick, one flesh and hope.

As they age, they take on different hues:
one, the new, acquires dust, ivy, familiarity, scars, grass, comfortability-- more quantities than qualities;
one, the young, acquires duty, sense, solidity, vision, girth, stability-- more qualities than quantities; and this is as it should be.

One is contained in the other,
yet breaks free.
More come, yet come again;
others come around, aground.

Obscure? I don't think so,
no worse than the trite tree which isn't even true, since a student, unlike a tree, is free to us.

ACADEMIC

There are a lot of things we would have learning be that it isn't.

Learning is a means, yet end
it is;
learning should build, but iconoclasts remind us;
learning should be freedom, but textbooks
bind us.

Is this a complaint? no,
it is not.
These paradoxes vanish in the heat of accomplishment.

We see the eager mind, rewarded and rewarding,
casting light for all to follow.
Teacher and student locked in combat where only both can gain the fruits.
But, sadly, we see the unsearching mind banished to pale lands, and we are unhappy, in this ultimate paradox, that the underdeveloped do not know, happily,
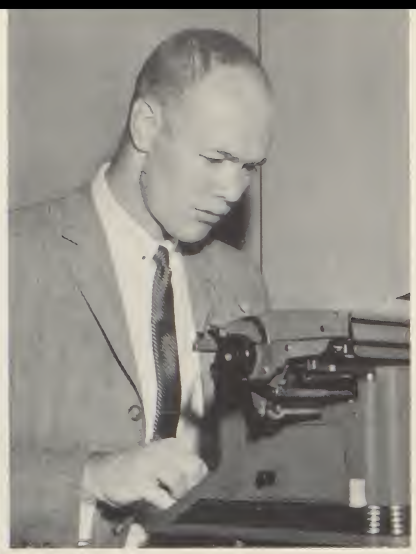
that they are unhappy.



ADMINISTRATION

Mentors
come in two types, a and b, active and passive, neither more important than the other.

The active teach; their charges, in endless cycles,
must grow apace;
the fruit, if it may be said,
is often bitter:
for gone at once are the good and bad, with the chance for one more try and the satisfaction of success; both losses.

Of more constancy, the passive administer;
their view is long, not cyclic.
Individuals matter, to be sure,
but the end differs.
For they must soothe and guide, must suffer each student, each teacher to find his way, and pay.

Too much
need not be made of these differences, for they go there with each other.

ACTIVITIES

Let's play, too! Let's sing, lead, write, teach, think, and speak!
Let's act, dance, type, swim, paint!
but let's do it together, please!

Oh yes, we know we'll gain this way,
and we care.
We know others will like what we do,
and we care
But for ourselves, no apologies, if all we do is enjoy.

SPORTS

All year around the white-hot spirit of contest takes hold of us, and the palm-sweat
of last minute free-throws renews victorious hopes.
And victories are felt again,
while we,
conquering opponents and building bodies, are spirit-confident, front-ward, willing–,
When needed victories are missed and dejection takes hold,
look to the virtues:
mind clean,
body renewed,
more sad than glad and more glad than sad.

SIGNAL

ACADEMIC

Now the academic in its many forms—
Once, academic meant McGuffey readers;
to some it still does.
But the concept is not static; here
the academics of the moment are captured.

It's a race against the accelerators as Linda Roberts and Robert Anderson strive to increase their reading speed.

ENGLISH

Communications - both written and oral - are some of the most valuable skills of mankind. Ancient man is viewed through written records, and present day problems are discussed and solved through oral as well as written communications.

To improve the students communication skills, grammar and other fundamentals are emphasized in the English classes. Literature, that "investment of genius which pays dividends to all subsequent times," is discussed in the required courses as well as the English Literature classes.

In courses such as Creative Writing and Journalism, extra emphasis is placed upon the development of the students' individual literary talents. Lay readers are employed in these, as in all other, English courses, to help the teacher in correcting the papers.

Speech and Dramatics are also offered at West. These courses enable the students to study the talents of others while developing their own proficiency.

Thus, students at West become familiar with the techniques by which their communication skills can be more fully developed.

"Every man has a right to utter what he thinks truth . . . . "

----------Samuel Johnson

Visions of medieval castles and ancient splendor occupy Kenneth Krone as he reads the history of distant lands.

SOCIAL STUDIES

"How abnormal am I?" wonders Carol Friedman as she puzzles over her interpretation of the Rorschach ink blot test in Psychology.

Ancient empires and modern societies are contrasted in various Social Studies classes at West. In preparation for the future, freshmen explore the non-western civilizations, while upperclassmen study United States History and Political Science.

Students may select further studies in such courses as World History, Latin American History, Modern European History, Psychology, Sociology, and Family Living.

Each course is designed to develop the student's insight into today's complex society and to prepare him for adult, civic responsibilities.

Irawati Batangtaris, foreign exchange student from Indonesia, effectively aids Non-Western Civilization students in their understanding of other cultures.

The hands dissecting the perch today may well be the hands operating on the patient tomorrow.

In the chemistry lab, Ronald Hoffman, Earl Hoffenberg, Sharon Larson, and Carol Kasper experiment intently with the composition of oxygen.

SCIENCE

A magical world is discovered through the microscope by Joan Clauson and Barry Gold as they pursue their study of bacteria.

Test tubes, dissections, and chemical reactions may well serve as reminders of physical and biological studies to many science students at Niles West. All of the courses offered are designed to make science an interesting subject for students.

Opportunity for those students who strive to obtain knowledge of scientific facts is scarcely limited by a lack of equipped laboratories and modern facilities.

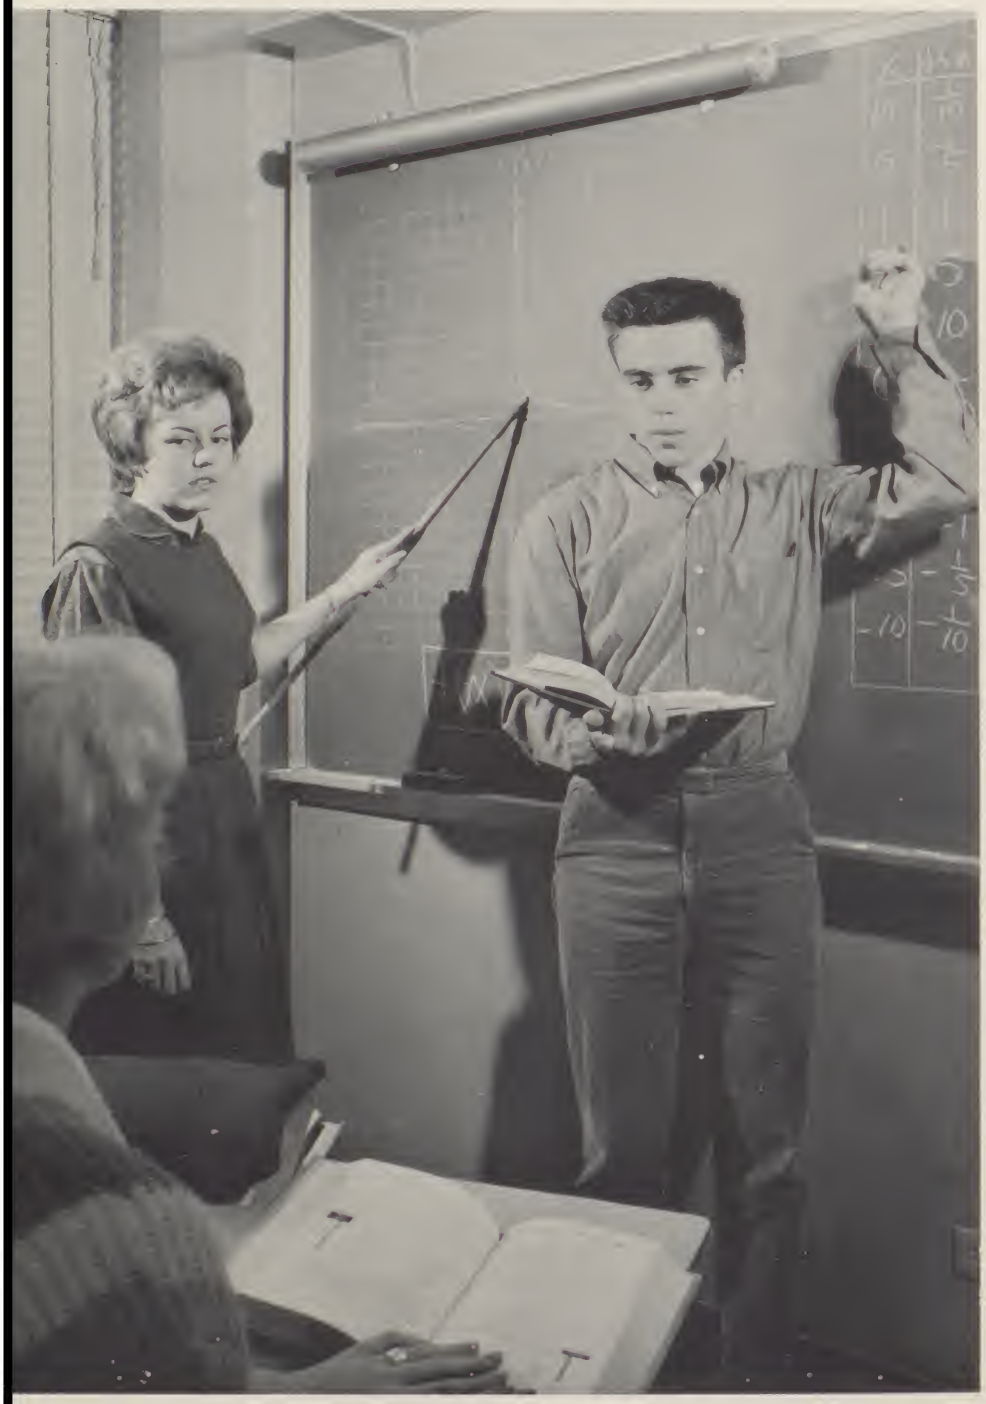
Courses vary from those designed to familiarize students with natural life functions to those which assist students seeking professions in science.

MATHEMATICS

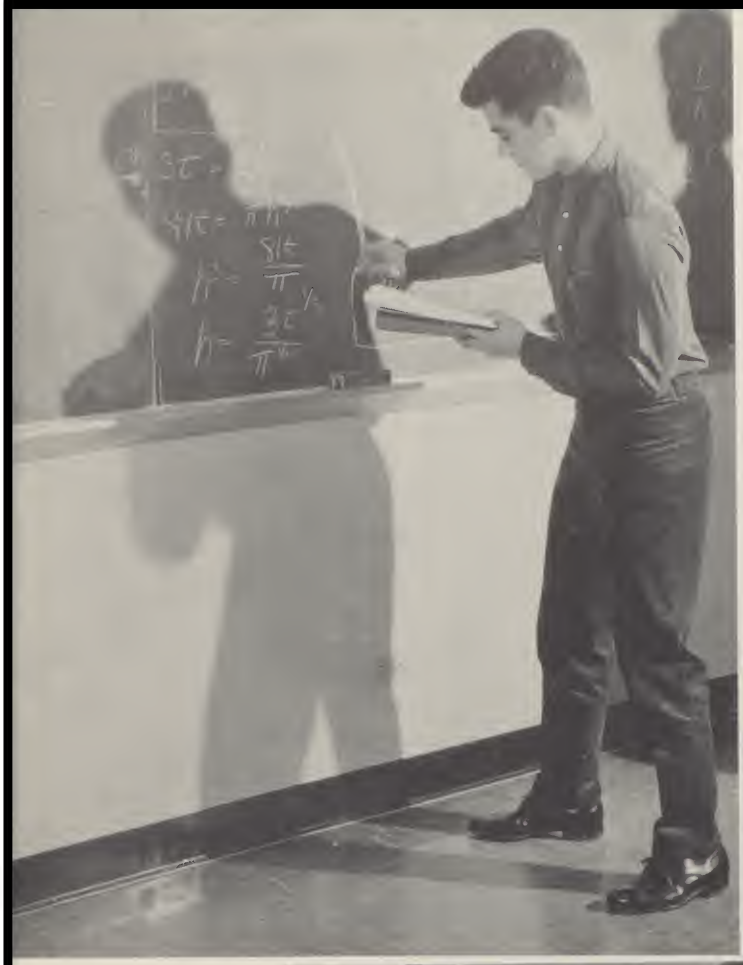
Mathematics, ever-increasing in importance, has been given extended emphasis at Niles West. The mathematics program including instruction in both basic and advanced concepts, thus accommodates the needs of every student.

The Mathematics Department prepares students to meet everday math successfully, while it offers advanced instruction to those wishing to excel in this field. Advanced courses in Math Analysis and Calculus, as well as basic instruction in General Math, Algebra, and Geometry, are offered.

Students gain an opportunity to increase their reasoning power and to become prepared for future math needs through the study of mathematics.



Abraham Lev and Mardell McMahon explain their graphing of a functional hyperbola to Kathleen Moyes and the rest of their second-year Algebra class.



David Gorenstein, his shadow reflecting his intense concentration, calculates the volume of a cube on the board in APP Math.

Jerold Klein finds that the intricacies of a three-dimensional geometric form can be quite perplexing in Solid Geometry.

By reading current German magazines, the study of languages is enlivened for Allan Silverstein, Henry Thiemann, and James Yardley.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Pax, Paix, Paz -- peace can be said in many ways. Students, through the study of foreign languages, have the opportunity to become the future leaders in our struggle towards peace.

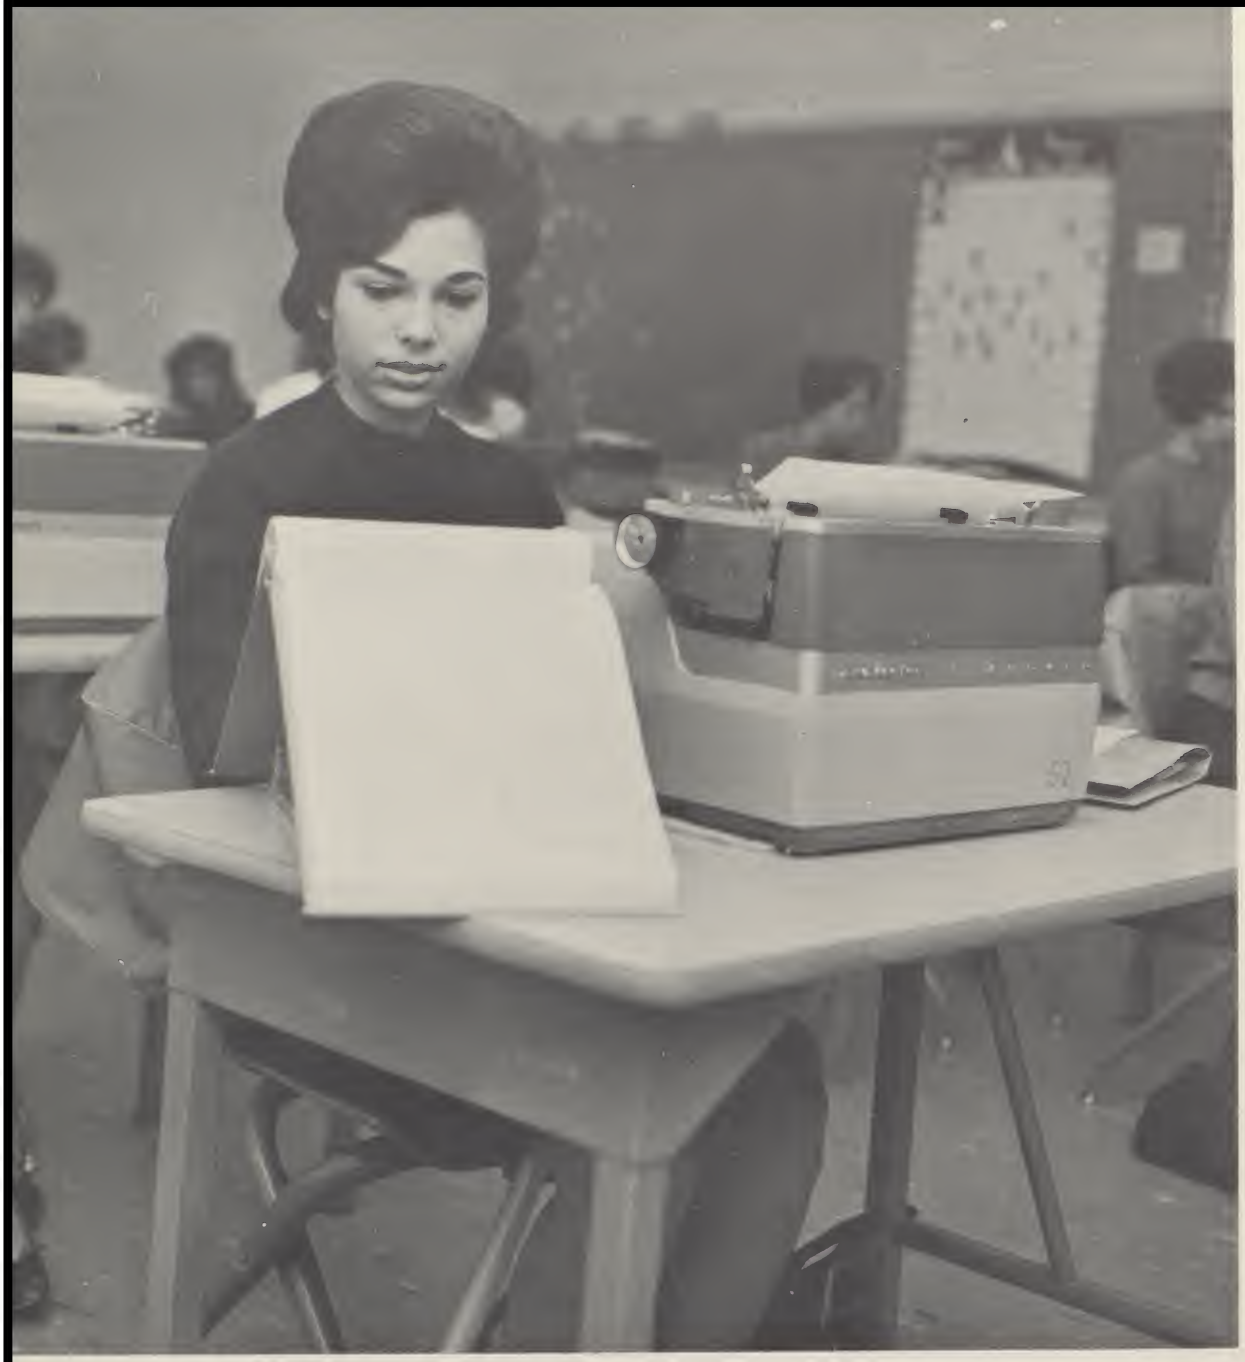
The foreign language program includes instruction in French, Spanish, Latin, Russian, and German. These classes, combining language comprehension with a study of the country's culture and customs, thus present the student with a realistic approach.

To aid the foreign language student in verbal comprehension, there is a modern language laboratory, complete with individual tape recorders, soundproof booths, and earphones. This system, a revolution in the teaching of foreign languages, has proved more efficient than the traditional textbook method.

Through these means the student learns and masters such important words as peace.

"Egredere aliquando ex urba!" Ted Forsberg, as Cicero, demands of Marc Lane, the traitorous Catiline, as Roman senators, Merrily Herman and Judy DeLove, watch.

Pleurat
Carl



Useful both in a future career and in future education, essential typing skills are developed by Diane Wasserman.

Secretarial, clerical, and commercial -- careers in these fields of business will be sought by many Niles West graduates. The Niles West Business Education Department offers many courses designed to prepare students for this future.

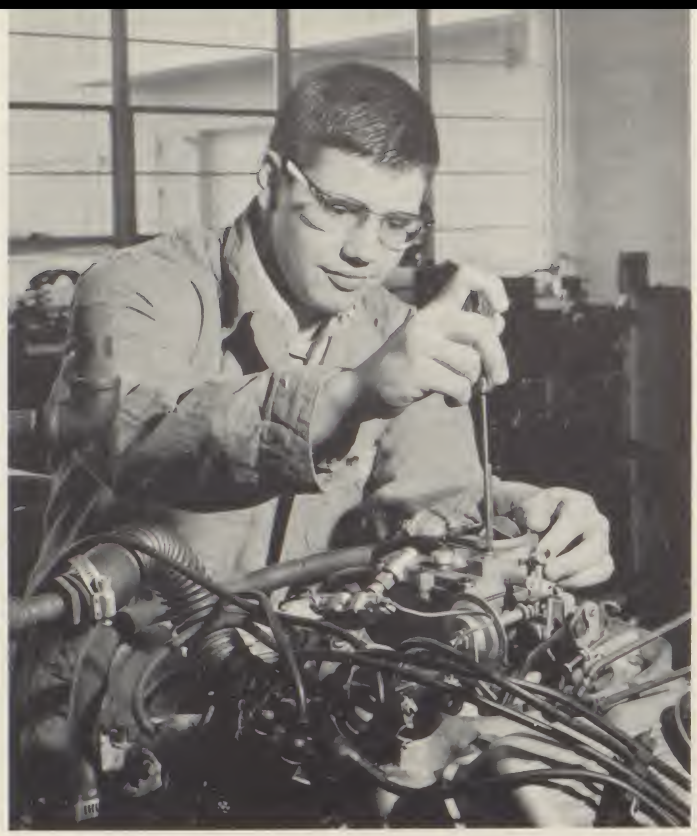
Exploration in both the basic and the more specialized aspects of business education is available. Students may select such fields of study as advertising, business mathematics, clerical practices, bookkeeping, and salesmanship. Instruction in typing and shorthand, so valuable to all students, is also offered.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

By working with various office machines, Karen Nord gains insight and understanding of the clerical skills necessary for today's business world.

ZLXKQPNR —— Whoops! Efficiency and accuracy are acquired only through diligent practice and error, as Linda Guinand and Starr Vavrinek discover, while working on the keyboard.

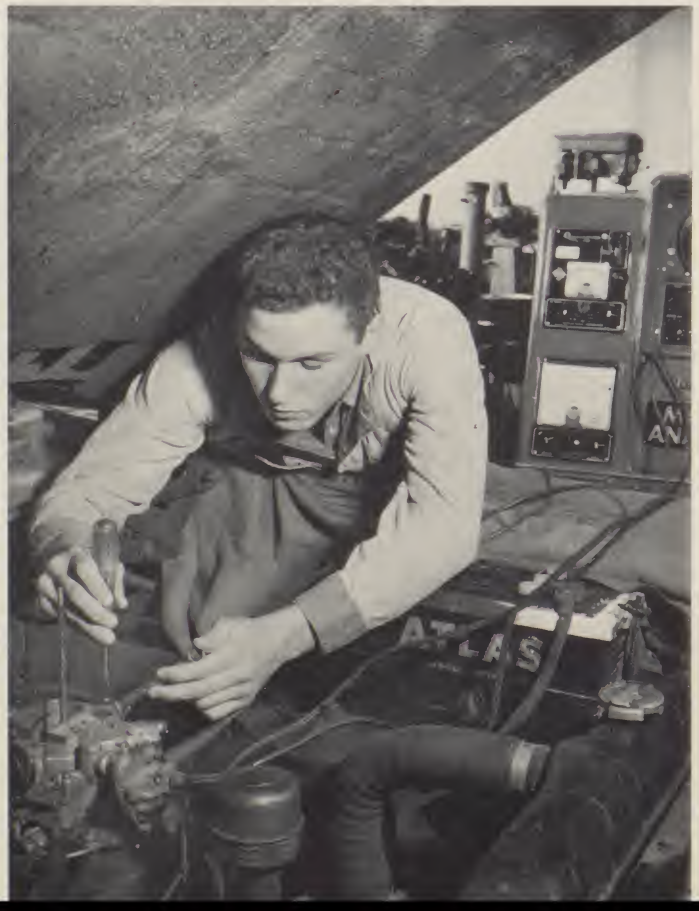
HOME AND IN



Working with a confident manner, Dennis Herkert seems sure that he can repair the trouble in his engine.

With patient effort and intense concentration, James Adams works on his project with the lathe for wood shop.

As the motor purrs softly and the gears turn rapidly, Elliot Davidow know the motor tune-up is complete.



DUSTRIAL ARTS

For future Betty Crockers and Thomas Edisons, the Home and Industrial Arts Departments offer a great deal of opportunity. Modern facilities and well-trained teachers assist the student who desires to learn home or industrial arts.

Girls may explore the various phases of cooking, sewing, and household management, so valuable to them in the future.

Industrialization, so important in our twentieth century society, is studied by boys in the industrial arts courses. They have the opportunity to investigate the general areas of industrial drawing, printing, auto mechanics, architectural drawing, woods, and electricity.

Because fashion determines hem length, Joy Regin assures Joan Klaveter that her dress will be in style.

Janis Smigiel, Judith Erickson, and Joan Nakayama learn from Miss Alice Line the beautiful and practical art of flower-arranging to decorate their own tables.

FINE ARTS

Appreciation of the arts is necessary in every well-rounded individual. Niles West recognizes this and gears its program accordingly. Each student is offered courses in which he may learn appreciation while developing his skills.

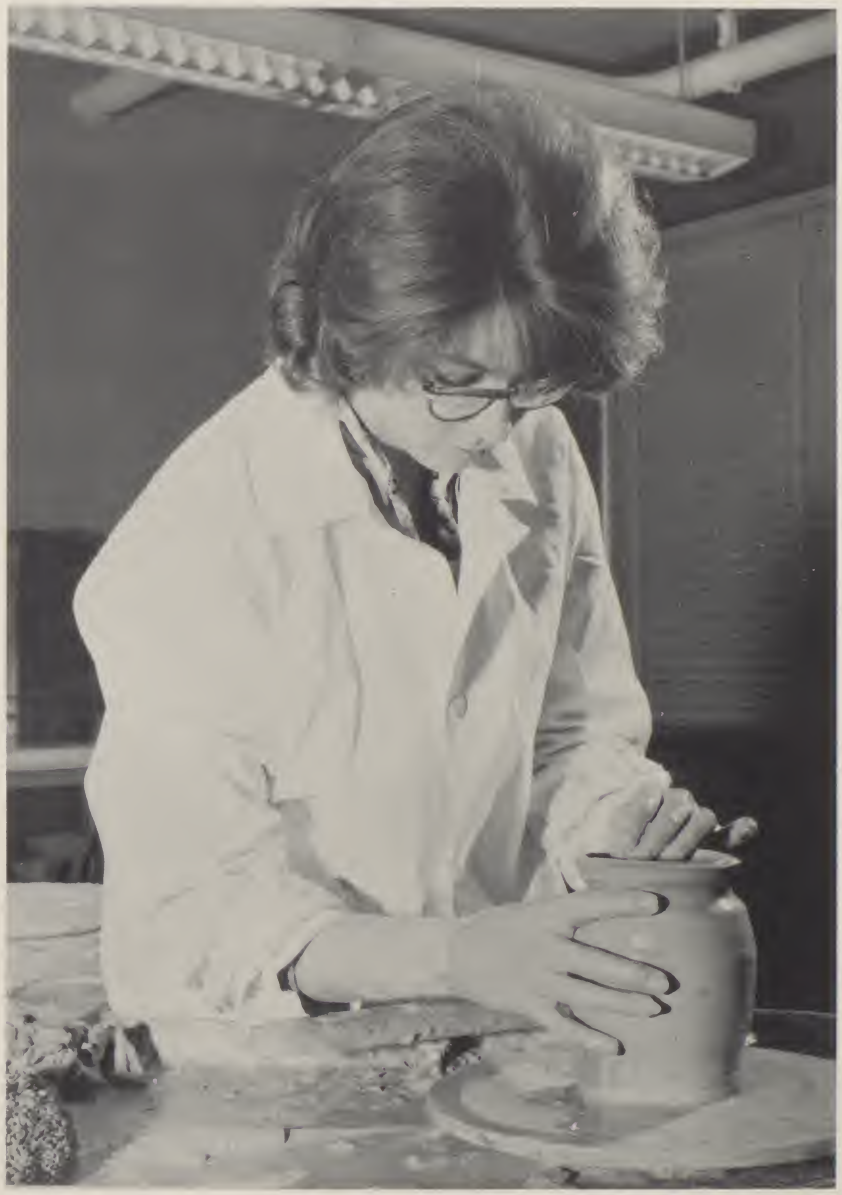
Self-expression and imagination are developed by the student taking the drama course. This course allows him to explore the history of the theater while mastering various acting techniques.

Art students obtain a valuable background while mastering the basic skills of drawing and sculpturing. Well-equipped art laboratories enable the student to experiment in any media.

Both vocal and instrumental instruction are offered to those interested in the field of music. A course in music theory was added to the curriculum this year.

Instruction in the fields of drama, art, and music provides the student with valuable insight into the fine arts, which contributes to the culture of our nation.

The joy of music is realized by John Arpan and Patricia Bateman as they sing to the accompaniment of Linda Nelson.



Round and round goes the pottery wheel as Mary Ann Minnerath sculptures her vase.

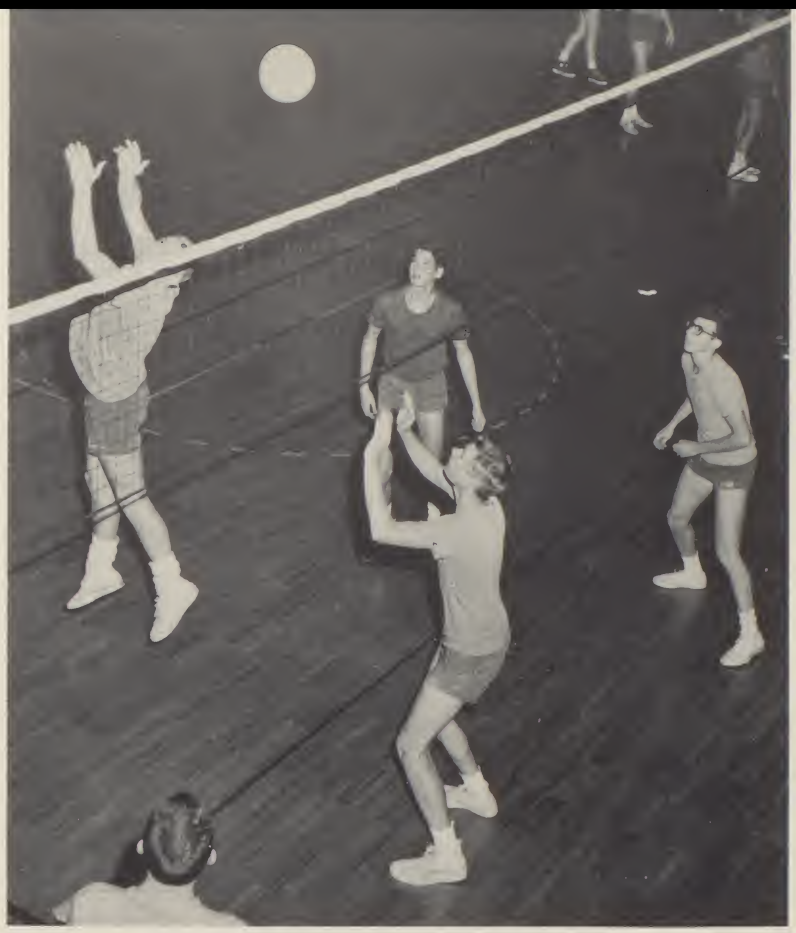
In their portrayal of a menagerie, Drama students, Joan Nakayama, Rita Lisser, and Susan Dolnick, appear obviously surprised on the stage, while Martin Lynch apparently maintains his composure in the crisis.

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Good sportsmanship, physical fitness, and appreciation for athletic activity are encouraged by the Boys' Physical Education Department.

Instruction in such sports as football, baseball, swimming, and wrestling is offered to the students. Through these and other activities, West boys become familiar with fundamental skills which can be applied to numerous sports. Classes requiring active physical participation are supplemented by such classroom courses as First Aid.

The boys' physical education program at West is on a high level, thus enabling students to benefit greatly from the many activities available.



"Here it comes!" Bill Timmer readies himself to return the ball smashed over the net by Gale Carlson, as his teammate, Howard Bolnick, watches.

Jeffrey Polon, realizing that two of his classmates are "spotting" for protection, performs skillfully on the parallel bars.

"Only 200 more to go" seems to be the thought of these boys doing their endless calisthenics.

SPLASH! Precision + practice = perfection.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Intelligent attitudes and genuine interests toward exercise and health and safety practices are encouraged in the girls' physical education program. Through both recreational and classroom instruction, the girls are taught the importance of a properly functioning body.

Classes in modern dance and fundamentals of movement help the individual to develop balance, grace, and poise.

Sportsmanship and teamwork receive emphasis in competitive sports offered to the girls. These activities include instruction in volleyball, field hockey, basketball, and softball. Swimming courses enable the individuals to improve co-ordination while learning water skills.

Classroom instruction in health and first-aid is also offered to the girls.

Upperclassmen are allowed to participate in the newly formed leaders program, through which they learn instruction techniques as well as the basic skills.

While watching for safety, Sue Vraney admires the poise and skill exhibited by Barbara Abbott on the balance bar.

Sheer exhilaration is experienced by Sue Vraney as she vaults over the side-horse.

Drivo-trainers, a simulated means of acquiring manual experience, prepare students for actual driving situations.

DRIVER EDUCATION

In an effort to instill the importance of safe driving habits in the minds of the students, Niles West offers a three phase course in Driver Education.

Phases of this course include classroom study, drivo-training, and behind-the-wheel practice. The classroom study teaches driving rules and signs of the road; drivo-training gives experience in actual driving situations through movies; behind-the-wheel allows the student to drive in traffic.

Through these divisions, West students become familiar with daily driving situations and are given the opportunity to learn skills which prepare them for licensed driving.

Confidence that can be gained in the classroom will help to give Gary Frántz adeptness on the road.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

We speak of mentors,
A broad term somewhat narrowed;
We hint at conflict,
and favor resolution.

They follow:
The stately, wan, strong and hollow.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Administrative ability seems to be a significant characteristic of Dr. Clyde Parker, Niles Township High School Superintendent.

Dr. Parker's impressive career began in Duggan, Indiana, where he served as a high school history instructor. Since that time, Dr. Parker has assumed the position of High School Superintendent of various midwest high schools including school systems in Washington, Indiana; Moline, Illinois; and Cedar Rapids, Iowa. He now serves as vice-president of School Administrators.

Having taught courses in school administration and philosophy of education at Indiana University and Augustana College, Dr. Parker is well suited for his position in Niles Township. His experience in high school administration is extremely evident in the fine records set by the Niles Township High Schools under his supervision.

CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Stuart A. Anderson, Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Curriculum and Instruction, is responsible for the school's academic program.

Establishing school curriculum is the major task of the Central Administration. This office is responsible for keeping courses at both Niles Township High Schools in keeping with a high standard. They also maintain the needed communication and consultation between East and West divisions.

Students at both high schools are fortunate in having such competent and experienced men guiding their high school careers.

Mr. Paul J. Houghton, Assistant Superintendent, plays a valuable role in maintaining administrative services.

DR. NICHOLAS T. MA

Scanning the latest editions, Dr. Mannos takes an active part in academic life at Niles West.

WEST DIVISION PRINCIPAL

A red vest and hearty words of school spirit characterize Dr. Nicholas T. Mannos, principal of Niles West. As principal, he has the over-all responsibility of promoting a good student-teacher relationship. Aided by a subordinate group of class level administrators, he upholds school policy. Dr. Mannos' enthusiastic manner sets an example of leadership, friendship, understanding, and guidance for the students of West Division.

At one of the frequent pep assemblies, Dr. Mannos strolls to the microphone to address the students.

Dr. Nicholas T. Mannos, Principal, capably handles the administrative duties of an ever-growing high school.

Dr. Donald F. Strahan, Assistant Principal in Charge of Freshmen, guides as well as disciplines new students.

Dr. George T. Gilluly, Assistant Principal in Charge of Sophomores, spends a great deal of his time in counseling Sophomore students.

Students arriving late for school or classes flock to the Student Accounting Office for admits.

Assistant Principal in Charge of Juniors as well as Director of Student Accounting are the positions held by Mr. Anton T. Schubert.

Director of Student Activities and Assistant Principal in Charge of Seniors keeps Mr. Arthur C. Colver busy every moment.

WEST DIVISION AMINISTRATION

The West Division Administration has direct contact with the students and is essential in promoting proper student-teacher relationships. The men of this office supervise the activities of both the teachers and the students and are responsible for the excellent cooperation that is present throughout the West building.

Headed by a verywell-qualifiedandcapable Principal, the West Division Administration includes a separate head for each of the four grade levels.

A school, like any successful business, must keep orderly records, hire its employees, purchase necessary items, and publicize its achievements. The men of the Central Business Office organize all of West Division's business transactions. Because of their skill, West can feel continually secure in its efficiency.

The problems of bookkeeping, finance, and community relations are some of the duties of Staff Director of the Business Office, Mr. Charles Coker.

CENTRAL BUSINESS OFFICE

Mr. Coker's assistant, Mr. Clifford Herbst, performs important duties in the Business Office.

Dr. Arthur H. Ryden is the head of the Guidance and Testing Department.

GUIDANCE AUDIO—VISUAL TESTING SERVICE

Personal and qualified judgment is available to each student at West through the guidance department. Being specifically trained in the area of understanding teenagers, counselors are prepared to give individual guidance to students in order that they might receive maximum benefits from their education. Counselors are responsible for both aiding the student in formulating his school program and for suggesting extracurricular activities which will appeal to the individual student.

Supplementing the regular teaching techniques and facilities at West are the Summer School, Audio-Visual, and Testing Services Departments. The latter two departments provide such technical aides to classroom study as films and testing programs which insure a high level of study interest and accuracy. Summer school sessions make possible extra educational opportunities for students.

The films viewed at Niles are under the management of Mr. Ted C. Coburn, Director of Audio-Visual Education.

Mr. Orland Ruyle, Staff Director of Summer and Evening School contributes to the further education of community members.

Mr. John Anderson efficiently manages the office of Building and Ground Superintendent.

RESEARCH AND PUBLIC RELATIONS

To familiarize the community with the activities of Niles West is the job of Mr. Harold R. Ohlson, Staff Director of Research and Publications. By bringing the public an awareness of the various functions and activities at West, Mr. Ohlson creates enthusiasm and interest toward the school.

Attractive grounds and a well-kept building provide the exterior environment necessary in every good school. Mr. John G. Anderson, Superintendent of Building and Grounds, handles this area of school appreannce and improvement, thus enabling students to benefit from healthy physical as well as mental environment.

The publications concerning Niles are a duty of Mr. Harold R. Ohlson, Staff Director of Research and Publications.

Acutely interested in the affairs and welfare of West Division, parents and other adults have established themselves into two dynamic organizations--the P.T.A. and Boosters Club. Through the services of these groups, Niles West has found endless adult cooperation and enthusiasm.

Good parent-teacher relationships, a necessary situation for the success of any school, is achieved in part through the Niles West P.T.A. This organization strives to make every parent well-acquainted with his child's school and with his instructors by such activities as a monthly newsletter, an annual open house and informative meetings.

The great athletic enthusiasm present at West is indebted to the school's Boosters Club. Composed of interested parents, this organization fosters athletic spirit by promoting attendance at all athletic contests and by sponsoring student transportation buses.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

West's School Board, composed of seven of the communities most qualified leaders, oversees all activities of the school. Duties of the School Board include hiring the school personnel, formulating the budget, and approving the proposed activities. The school looks to the qualified judgment of these people in all matters of importance.

Annually, the P.T.A. sponsors a dinner for the administration, faculty, and school board. Dr. and Mrs. Mannos, Mr. and Mrs. Koerner, and Mr. Cech discuss the events of the evening over coffee at this traditional affair.

OUR FACULTY

Leadership--the ideal combination of skill and understanding--has become a quality of increasing importance in the modern world. The effect that the good leadership of parents and government officials has upon a growing generation is evident. The effect, also, of well-trained, interested, and understanding teachers upon the growing and expanding minds of students is undeniable.

The type of leadership which teachers possess is not the kind perceived in the parent or civic leader. It is an annual kind of leadership which fulfills a purpose with each graduating class and begins anew with each incoming student.

Niles West's teachers are not the stereotypes of the past. Nor are they as statues--examples of the ideal, unreal or lifeless. West's teachers are people--people who have assumed the roles of leaders--people who wish to pass along their ideals to a new generation of thinkers, planners, and doers.

Leadership is a cultivated quality; without it the minds of those who follow would never learn to lead.

SECRETARIAL STAFFS

Appointments with counselors, permission to be absent from school, and many more services -- all are accomplished through the efficient Niles West secretaries.

Secretaries of the Attendance, Guidance, Business Administration, Main and Central Offices handle such activities as students' records, testing scores, school supplies, registration and the immediate needs of the administration.

Without the assistance of these Niles West secretaries, the functions of the administration would be greatly hindered.

CAFETERIA STAFF

An orderly building and well-balanced lunches are daily evidence of the careful work done by the maintenance and cafeteria staffs at West.

Maintenance personnel are responsible for the continued cleanliness of the classrooms and gyms as well as the attractive appearance of the entire building. Students at West also owe the preparation of school facilities for games, plays and special events to this staff.

Four consecutive lunch periods daily provide a full schedule for West's cafeteria staff, which servrs both hot and cold lunches planned by a professional dietition.

We must apologize for their number,
but we are large

and so are our pleasures;
and who can say we are frivolous?

SPECTRUM

From the reams of paper, the disorganized piles of pictures, and the thousands of bent paperclips comes the 1963 Spectrum. Actually, the appearance of the yearbook is not such a miracle after all, when one considers that the yearbook staff works four nights a week from the opening of school until the summer supplement is in the mail to give to the student body the best possible book, in pictures, in copy, and in originality of thought and expression.

"So whose deadline is it, anyway?" wonder D. Greenberg (Activities Editor) and D. Smith (Sports Editor) as the Sports section begins to take shape.

The yearbook assembly line recruits Terry Piell (Assistant Sports Editor), Karen Skidmore (Assistant Activities Editor), and Diana Bonifert (Special Events Editor).

WEST WORD

A school newspaper, just as any other publication, should be interesting and informative. The West Word, which has achieved an honored position at West, fulfills its duties to the student as well as faculty readers; it publishes a newspaper that presents all the news in an interesting manner and challenges the minds of the students by editorializing current problems and school problems and events in the editorials.

Interviews with famous celebrities, Totem Pole surveys, club news, as well as accounts of athletic events, help make the West Word an important part of school life at West.

Reviewing the latest issue of the West Word are G. Schneider (Feature Editor) and E. Honnet (Assistant News Editor).

APOTHEOSIS AND ARTS CLUB

Through the medium of creative writing, Apotheosis offers all students at Niles West the opportunity for self-expression. After running a school-wide contest and evaluating the numerous manuscripts submitted, the members of Apotheosis Literary Guild select the most outstanding work for publication in the annual literary magazine, which is distributed at the close of the school year.

Enriching the minds of all students by exploration of "The Seven Lively Arts"--------literature, sculpture, music, dramatics, dance, and architecture-----is the goal of Arts Club. This goal is accomplished through field trips of cultural interest, as well as lively, weekly meetings, which offer a variety of entertainment.

ART COUNCIL

Promoting art appreciation in the school and in the community is Art Council's basic purpose achieved through projects. Club activities include the tedious preparation of arranging and matting pictures for art exhibits. The addition of the school emblem, a huge, sculptured Indian head placed in the contest gym, is the result of the concentrated effort of Art Council.

SCIENCE SEMINAR

Voluntary research and advanced study in any facet of science are but a few of the opportunities offered to students taking part in the Science Seminar.

During these evening seminars, lectures are given by scientists and specialists in related fields. Students are also able to take part in demonstrations and experiments which would not be available in normal classroom study.

The Science Seminar is an extracurricular program open to qualifing students who have a special interest in science.

MUSIC

As the little German band marches through the cafeteria to announce the Regional Basketball Tournament, the Choir rehearses for Brigadoon, this year's musical, and the moths settle to work on the Marching Band uniforms in storage until next football season.

Throughout the year, the Music Department provides delightful, entertaining programs for the benefit of the school and the community. The Christmas program, the May Festival, and the musical represent the combined choral-orchestral efforts of the entire Music Department, behind the scenes as well as on stage.

Vivace, West's selective girls' choir, is responsible for much of the prestige connected with the Music Department through their concerts at the meetings, conventions, and banquets of local organizations.

Music students at Niles West are given every opportunity and encouragement, from their initiation in music education in Girls' Glee, Mixed Chorus, and Intermediate Band to the culmination of their training in Choir, Vivace, Orchestra, Concert Band, and Stage Band.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Based upon scholarship, character, service, and leadership, student membership in the National Honor Society is an achievement not to be equaled in academic importance. Of the Junior Class, only three percent are chosen to membership, and of the Senior class, only nine percent are selected.

THESPIANS

"Break a leg, kid," a stage phrase which might seem heartless to one unfamiliar with theatrical jargon, is a welcome good luck wish to the many students who participate in the activities of the National Thespians.

Members of Thespians are active in various divisions of dramatics. Some students take part in stage crew work while the interest of others lies in actual performing.

The organization encourages its members to attend all dramatic events presented at school in order to become familiar with the finished product of their own special interests in theatrical art.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE

Excellency in verbal communication, extremely valuable to students, is fostered through the various activities of National Forensic League. By participating in such fields as oratory, debate, monologue, and dramatic interpretation, students are encouraged to develop skill in the art of verbal expression.

SPANISH CLUB

Spanish Club provides curious students with an enjoyable way to broaden their language education. Club members are transported via guest speakers, films, and music to Spanish-speaking countries where they catch glimpses of the life and customs of the natives. A Christmas party at which the students put on skits and sing carols and a year-end banquet highlight the year's activities.

LEFT TO RIGHT: M. Karlin (Secretary), K. Skidmore (Vice-President), L. Neubarth (President), J. Brooks (Treasurer).

LATIN CLUB

Donning the attire of the ancient Romans, Latin Club members festively celebrate Roman holidays. Underclassmen are often "auctioned" in the upperclassman slave market.

Even though these activities lend a gala tone to the function of the club, by no means are the academic considerations of minor importance. The club increases the student's interest in the Latin language and helps to create a true appreciation of one of the oldest of cultures.

FRENCH CLUB

The importance of international understanding is realized, and, therefore, language clubs are formed to make known the cultures of the people whose languages we study. The French Club allies itself to this program, and its membership learns of the French people, their past, their ideals, and their ways of living.

GERMAN CLUB

In an effort to familiarize its members with the land, the customs, and the people of Germany, the German Club presented, in a year long program, films and speakers designed to interest all participating students. The German Band, of Music Department fame, made its debut at the annual Christmas party, and the club dinner gave members the opportunity to become acquainted with authentic German food.

By taking part in the weekly chess matches, members develop proficient thinking skills while enjoying the game, and these skills soon enable them to participate effectively in interscholastic competition.

USHERS' CLUB

Plays, games, reviews, and tournaments are just a few of the many events which require the aid of efficient ushers. It is the aim of the Niles West Ushers' Club to be of service to the school in this way while allowing its members to enjoy the various activities.

In addition to the events at school, the girls also usher at the Blackstone and Schubert Theaters in Chicago. In this way the club performs a vital service to the public and presents cultural opportunities to its members.

LEFT TO RIGHT: L. Roberts (President), B. Paus (Vice-President), A. Penner (Secretary).

AUDIO-VISUAL AIDS

The films and tape recordings used in classroom study are familiar to many students. These visual and audial aids are made possible by the help of students who operate the technical equipment.

These students, members of the Audio-Visual Aids Club, learn to operate radio sets, film projectors, and other such aides while giving invaluable service to the school.

PEP CLUB

Color and interest are added to all athletic events at West by the enthusiasm and spirit of the Pep Club.

The Pep Club, composed of members of the student body who are especially interested in the expansion of school spirit, represents West at all competitive games.

The schedule of this group is a full time one since it is responsible for many of the assemblies held before important athletic contests and for much of the advance game publicity.

The Pep Club plays an extremely important role in fostering school spirit and attendance at events at West.

Faculty-operated study halls are almost a thing of the past at Niles West. Study halls, corridors, and the library are monitored by students who volunteer to give up their study halls in order to assume the position of monitors.

Students who participate in this organization gain valuable experience in accepting responsiblity and fulfilling assigned duties.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Each student at West has the opportunity to participate in the student government. However, because of the great number of students, representative majority rule is both necessary and desirable. This year's Council has undertaken many admirable projects: the schoolwide Brotherhood Conference, a Salutation Program, an Interim League Officers' Conference, and the sponsorship of the Niles West foreign exchange student, Irawati Batangtaris. This group has become a necessary part of the extracurricular program at Niles West.

Irawati Batangtaris lends gracious charm to anything she does, including her Student Council office with the official title "Foreign Exchange Student."

UNITY BOARD

UNITY BOARD AND STUDENT UNION BOARD

Important for the extra harmony of the school, the Unity Board, composed of the presidents of each activity, co-ordinates the dates, activities, and fund-raising projects of all clubs at West.

While the Unity Board makes certain that the activities of West are running smoothly, the Student Union Board prepares the monthly dances enjoyed by so many students at West. At the Union mixers, music for dancing as well as full-length movies are provided.

Both organizations provide necessary services for the clubs and students at West.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Extracurricular sports activities at West are not limited to the football field or the competitive basketball court usually reserved for boys.

G.A.A. increases interest in such sports as swimming, tennis, basketball, and softball, as well as interest in athletic activity.

In addition to the numerous service projects, the board, composed of active student members, plans playdays, an annual turnabout dance, and a float for Homecoming.

A unique organization, the Aqua Sprites, combines fun and enjoyment with healthy exercise. It teaches young girls coordination and graceful movements in the water. These girls spend many hours mastering the techniques of water ballet, such as Dolphins, Marlin Turns, and Submarines. Their accomplishments are presented to the public in the annual Spring Water Show.

West's majorettes, who practice daily to give the best possible performances at games and various other school events, also perform at an annual twirling show.

Baton, flag, and pom-pom techniques, exhibited by the twirlers, demand extensive practice if routines are to be done with precision.

Ping-pong enthusiasts and once-a-week hoopballers, along with boys who cannot devote all their free time to sports, find an ideal opportunity to enjoy their favorite sports in the Intramural Sports Program. During the year, swimming, basketball, and table tennis are offered to those boys who would not otherwise be able to participate in a competitive sports activity.

BASKETBALL WINNERS

CHEERLEADERS

Pep is a word almost immediately associated with cheerleaders. The girls of the Freshman, Sophomore, and Varsity squads at West seem not only to generate the pep associated with their activity but also to represent the vital spirit of all students at West.

Beside cheering at football and basketball games, the cheerleaders participate in pep assemblies and conduct an annual school spirit survey in which they ask students to give suggestions for bettering school spirit.

At this year's Regional Basketball Tournament held at West, the cheerleaders acted as judges in selecting the most outstanding squads in the area.

SPECIAL EVENTS

HOMECOMING

DAMP WEATHER, HIGH SPIRITS

Setting new precedents, "Victory Playback" continued the growth of tradition and the development of school spirit, as Niles West had alumni to come home at last. Throughout the entire week, pervading the community was the excited anticipation of the week-end festivities and the glorious tortures of wood, chickenwire, multi-colored petal paper, streamers, napkins, tired fingers, exhausted bodies, sleepless nights, hectic hours, hot chocolate, excitement, rush, and surprise.

The traditional twilight pep rally, announcing and heralding the royal court, brought "Victory Playback" to a spirited beginning. After frantic efforts to complete floats, the parade was the next morning, Saturday, October 20; but, not even a bleak, rainy morning could dampen the festive zeal and excitement. Even with sheets of drenched plastic covering, G.A.A., with their big red locomotive, took first place honors for the second consecutive year.

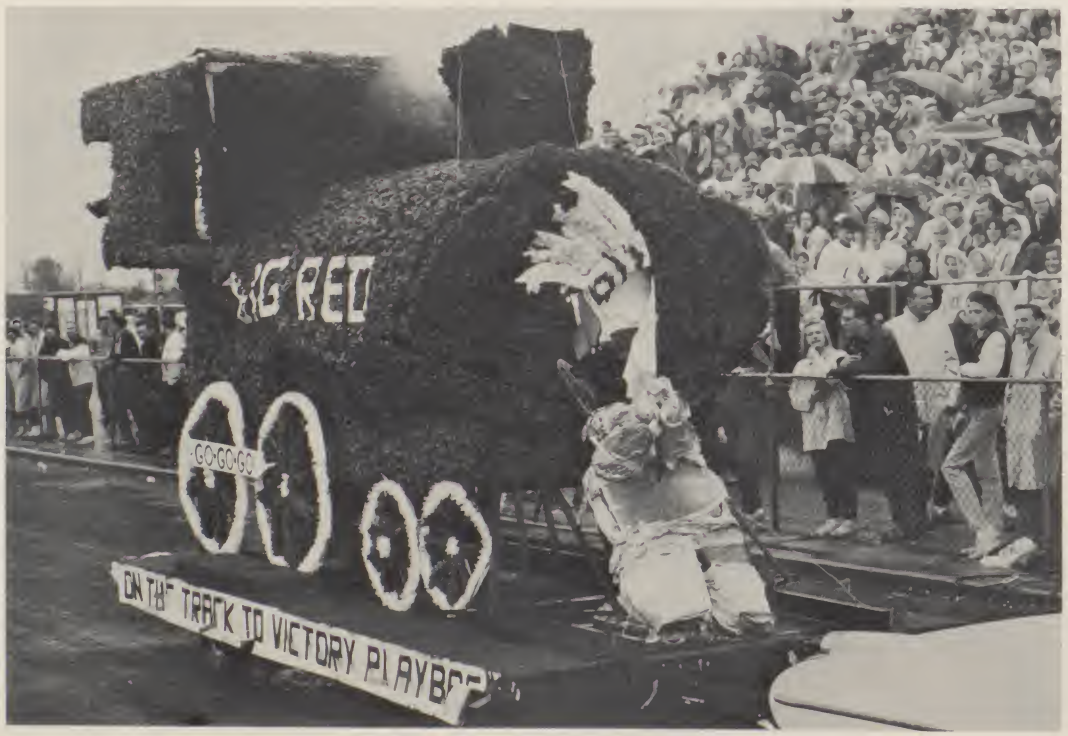
Spirit was generated by the pre-game ceremonies, with the pom-pom dance routine, and continued through the gridiron battle with Prospect, played in constant rain, despite the defeat of Big Red.

"With a Star or Two," the Homecoming dance sponsored by Senior Cabinet, brought the memorable week-end to a wonderful close. The decorations-----a milky way of stars, pictures of past senior events and alumni, two wishing wells, a gushing fountain-----and the delightful music contributed to the magic mood of the night.

"Victory Playback" was truly a dream fulfilled by the strenuous efforts of the committee members and the co-directors. Started with summer plans five months before, Homecoming is now just a wonderful and cherished memory.

Crown, queen, and throne . . . , Diane Alder and Warren French highlight the evening.

G.A.A. takes the prize with "On the Track to Victory Playback!"



Don Deck circles left-end with Prospect players in close pursuit.

. . . HOMECOMING

"Victory, Rah!" shouts Barbara Lee.

Diane Alder greets Irawati Batangtaris in a gesture of friendship.

FALL PLAY

STRENUOUS PRACTICE, OPENING NIGHT SMASH

Money and madness were the themes around which students, portraying mental inmates, comically developed the plot of this year's fall play, The Curious Savage.

Setting for the play was supposedly the site of a mental institution, the Cloister. The comedy was the only non-musical play presented at West this year.

Preparation for the play, the first of two annual all-school presentations, included the skills of many crews--lighting, make-up, props, costume, publicity, and stage--as well as the time and talent of the performers.

Resounding applause and enthusiastic laughter of the audience made the success of The Curious Savage extremely evident.

"Money in the porpoise?" Questions Sandra Shiner. "Easy," replies Elayne Halpern, "With a razor blade and scotch tape."

"Golden fingertips, I simply surrender to it, I'm a rag" declares Holly Semiloff to Chris Marks, Garry Spies, Diane Seligman, and Elayne Halpurn.

"There are a million things a man won't do for five dollars, but there aren't five things that he won't do for a million dollars," confides Elayne Halpern to her teddy bear.

"Well, madame, and what have you to say for yourself?" Question Steve Sher, Mike Chechopoulos, Janice Goldfeder and Larry Ross of Jean Moss. "What have you done with the money?"

A successful evening, the Christmas Dance sponsored by Student Union Board.

CANDY CANES AND CHRISTMAS CAROLS, TOKENS OF HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES

A gay, holiday mood and the traditional Christmas atmosphere prevailed for "A Moment of Christmas," the annual Christmas dance sponsored by the Student Union on Saturday, December 22.

Entering the dance through a huge wreath, bedecked with large mistletoe bows, pine cones, and berries, girls were presented beautiful snowball bids of gold and white; each couple walked into a Christmas toyland of candy canes, elves, toys and the traditional Santa's Workshop. Costumed in a colorful red outfit, a jolly Santa Claus gave presents and wished holiday cheer.

Adding to the old-fashioned holiday traditions and spirit created by Christmas trees and tinsel was the warm friendly glow of a crackling fire illuminating the festive gathering.

Mr. Van Arsdale gives his traditional narration of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol.

Barbara Belgrade and Maureen Larson touch up Christmas Dance preparations.

Louis Armstrong entertains Niles' students.

"Satchmo" introduces his theme.

"The Roaring Twenties," Indian Summer, and Valentine's Day--each of these themes was used by this year's Student Union Board. Held monthly, the union offered dancing to the music of student bands, ping pong, movies, and good old-fashioned, and almost out-dated talk.

When Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong began to blow his first majestic notes on his trumpet and to mop his brow with a fiery red handkerchief, the entire audience came alive, tapping to the steady rhythm. The renowned jazz trumpeter, along with his five-piece combo and vocalist, was brought to the stage of Niles West on February 21 through the combined efforts of Junior and Senior Cabinets. Performing such favorites as "Mack the Knife," "When the Saints Go Marching In," and his theme-song, "When It's Sleepy Time Down South," Satchmo certainly delighted the entire audience.

Student Union fun includes bouncing competition between Daniel Smith and David Senn.

STUDENT SPONSORED ACTIVITIES SHOW INTEREST AND INITIATIVE

Time out! A refreshing break at a Student Union.

OPERA HOUSE ANTICS, AN ENTERTAINING REVUE

Meow-----Spangles and fur!

In the style of the Gay 90's, Judith Locher, Judith Fine, and Susan Trowbridge set the scene for the fourth barbershopper, Deborah Beil, who has news of "Hard-Hearted Hannah."

The aging opera house, reopened for a local talent show in Corning, Iowa, was the scene of Niles West's second annual Redskins' Revue. Delighted audiences from both Friday and Saturday nights left the auditorium with a feeling of having been transported to a past age.

The entertainers displayed their talents through a variety of solos, chorus lines, and speciality acts. The success of this production was due to the combined efforts of all of the participants and an appreciative audience.

"Just you wait, 'enry 'iggins, just you wait!" sings Francine U'ditsky.

Hilda and Abigail, as portrayed by Janice Goldfeder and Judith DeLove, further their adventures by cleaning-up after Hollywood movie stars.

Redskins' chorusters tell, "How to get a date."

SCIENCE FAIR

Spectators crowd the science exhibit.

Robert Phelan looks at his project on Determenation of Avogadro's Number.

Clay model heads show man's evolution.

Quantitative and qualitative analysis play an important part in Richard Heller's project on Polarography-Electro-Chemical analysis.

A vast number of onlookers drawn by numerous displays crowded the annual science exhibit. The spectators were amazed at the high degree of scientific knowledge shown by Niles West students. Each successful project, however, was not a mere display but rather a cumulative result of many weeks of tedious work. The eager, questioning minds, tempted by scientific riddles and guided by intellect, resolutely experimented, probed, and discovered. These experiments, though now in their infancy, may mature to push forward the sweeping giant steps of technical advancement.

SENIORS

Finally, it seems, the purpose of all this is to present the seniors:
The end product--this stage-- but only that,
for the institutions they moved through persist, not unchanged by them

SENIOR CABINET

Senior year is the culmination of a phase in life. Responsibilities, the setting of examples, and graduation, all seem overwhelmingly distant to the naive.

The transition from grammar school to high school brings about a series of new and different experiences to which the individual must adapt himself. The preoccupation with this change accounts for the lacking realization in the nearness of the future.

We accept education willingly with only a slight understanding of it worth. If we have not reached that certain level of maturity where our goals are decided, we only accept education because it is there.

Each year of high school passes more quickly than the last until what seemed the future is the present. Senior year is constant; it is something to look forward to and something to look back on.

SOPHOMORES

A beginning with less anticipation and with more concern is characteristic of the sophomore year in high school. This is the year the pupil becomes the student. He is in the middle of everything--better than a freshman, but not yet an upperclassman.

However, extracurricular activities begin to gain in importance. Clubs are joined; play and spring musical parts are within reach. The student becomes a part of the school.

FRESHMEN

The first day in high school brings much to anticipate. Everything is new and different. Part will be enjoyment, part will be work. The coming days are looked forward to with excitement.

Soon the realities of high school life become evident. Lunch lines and passing periods, term papers and final exams, Student Unions and Redskins rehersals, gym suits and basketball games . . . all become a routine part of school life.

At first the student is afraid . . . but his fear turns to acceptance. This new adventure is not as insurmountable as he had expected. He likes it.

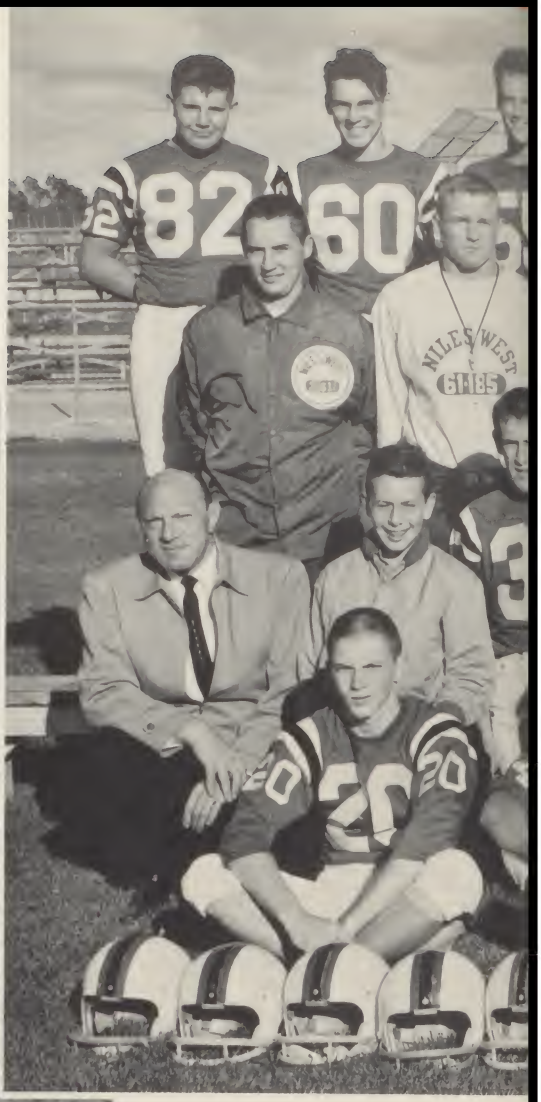
ATHLETICS

It is usual to emphasize the signs of deftness, sportsmanship and courage; we will.
It is usual to despise the opposite, but in our new framework, we won't.

FOOTBALL



In the Glenbrook game, Halfback Donald Deck follows a gaping hole to another touchdown which led him to the Interim League scoring crown.

VARSITY

On this year's 14th annual Sun Times Chicago Area Prep Football Team were three boys from the Interim League. Included was Ken Altschuler, in the quarterback slot; Don Deck brought West its second annual Interim League scoring championship, with a high point total of 54.

Combining the backing of the junior players, the experience of the seniors, and the all-around championship coaching of Mr. Basrak, Big Red turned in a 5 and 3 season record for Interim League 6th place, leaving next year open for a recapture of the Interim League crown.

Guard Steve Horowitz, assisted by Coach Rex Whitlatch and Doctor Joseph Brown, realizes that football has its hard knocks as well as its glory.

After another sizeable gain, Elliot Davidow is brought down by Larry Barnett of Glenbard East as Allen Peterson moves in to assist.

Kenneth Altschuler turns the corner of a tough Prospect flank.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Coached by Mr. Jack Fabri and Mr. William Paulsen, the Junior Varsity gained valuable experience this year, so that they can replace the graduating seniors on next year's Varsity. Losing many of its members to the Varsity may have weakened the Junior Varsity, although they turned in a season record which included a 13 to 13 tie with Niles East and a 12 to 6 victory over East Leyden.

The sophomore football squad, coached by Mr. Jack Lain and Mr. William Coyer, produced a rugged group of combatants this year who posted a record of two wins and six losses. Among sophomores elevated to the Varsity squads were J. V. quarterback Roger Thomas and Varsity end Richard Steele. With these and the other sophomore additions, Coaches Lain and Coyer believe that next year's Varsity and Junior Varsity squads will develop into the teams that will bring the Interim League championship back to Niles West.

Bringing an Interim League championship home to the reservation, the victorious freshman football team displayed their fresh sense of competition and fundamentals. Under the expert coaching of Mr. R. Lyerla, Mr. G. Bauer, Mr. G. Engle, and Mr. T. Meier, the Freshman "B" team had an undefeated season of eleven triumphs, and the Freshman "A" team, bowing only to Wheaton, won seven games.

Attaining such an outstanding record and acquiring such valuable experience on the gridiron, these boys will certainly provide a strong nucleus for Big Red in future seasons.

VARSITY

CROSS COUNTRY

Behind the coaching of Mr. John Harmon, the Varsity Cross Country squad concluded the season with a record of 8 and 3, which placed them 2nd in the Interim League. Consistently capturing first place honors in the league and an exceptional 2nd. place in the State Finals, Bob Barber may confidently be called the finest harrier yet produced by Niles West.

All training to take Barber's place, the Frosh-Soph team established themselves potentially as the kind of first class runners Niles West has been accustomed to with a 12, 9, and 1 season record.

BASKETBALL

The Indians, developing as expected in the second year of competition, finished the season with an eleven and seven record in conference games. In contention with thirteen other teams of the Interim League, the hoopsters took fourth place at the end of the season.

Ably coached by Mr. Billy Schnurr and Mr. Jerry Engle, the team showed exceptional hustle and heart and usually carried the contest in spite of their powerful opponents.

From a long twenty-two game schedule, both in league and regional competition, the team gained invaluable skill and experience.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Swiftness afoot and deftness in ball handling mark the effective hoopman. The ball falls through the basket; two points are scored; the crowd cheers. The Junior Varsity player practices and gains experience by playing before a crowd. Good sportsmanship is evident if there is luck in victory or fair play in defeat. Coach Jerry Engle's team worked hard for a season of exciting ball games ending with a 7 and 11 record and placing 6th in the Interim League while preparing the squad's underclassmen for next year.

A momentary analysis of game tactics displays the keen leadership of Coach Jerry Engle.

SOPHOMORE

In their final game, the sophomore basketball squad edged Wheaton 64 to 63 to end season-play on a triumphant note. Hope runs high for next year when the soph cagers will advance on the courts with another year of experience to their credit.

Mr. William Paulsen's Freshman "A" squad finished the season with a 7 and 7 listing to rank Interim League 8th. Although this team made only an average showing, they played good ball and promise fine reinforcement for the up-coming sophomore squad.

As the only hoopsters to hold a perfect season record, the Frosh "B" squad stepped into the limelight with an 11 and 0 tally. Both Coach Willett and his Freshman team deserve commendation for such a highly successful season. Next year's teams will certainly profit from a squad with such an outstanding past.

Although he looks as if he is diving from the high board, Charles Siegal has just launched himself from the regulation 1 meter board to display the prowess that placed him 3rd among divers in Illinois.

SWIMMING

Lift from the springboard puts power behind the precision necessary for competitive diving. This year, employing these techniques to the best advantage was Charles Siegal, who ended his spectacular diving season with third place in the State Championships. Backing up Siegal, the Varsity swimmers placed 5th in the Interim League Championships which were held at West.

Incorporated into next year's varsity will be the Frosh-Soph swimmers who took first place in Interim League competition with a 79 point team total at the Championships.

Through the consistently fine coaching of Mr. Arnold Cajet, Mr. Darrell Smith, and Mr. Gerald Darda, Niles West has enjoyed an excellent and exciting swimming season with great promise shown for next year.

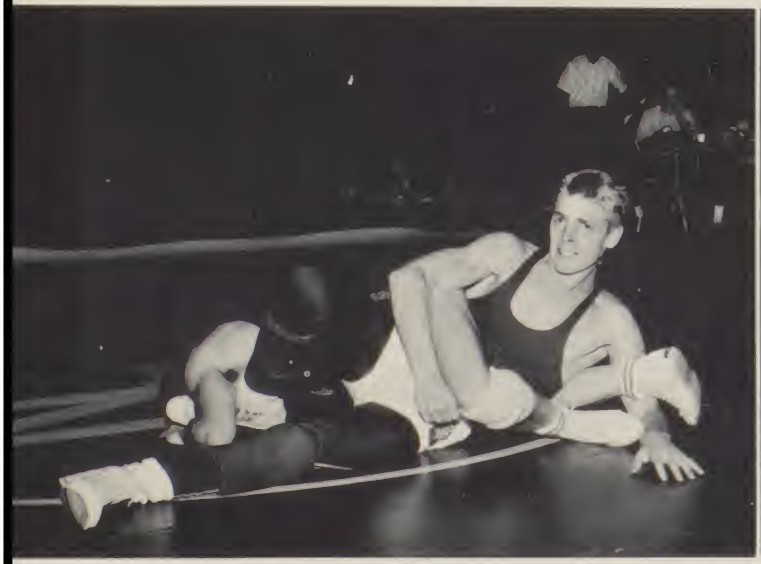
VARSITY AND JUNIOR VARSITY

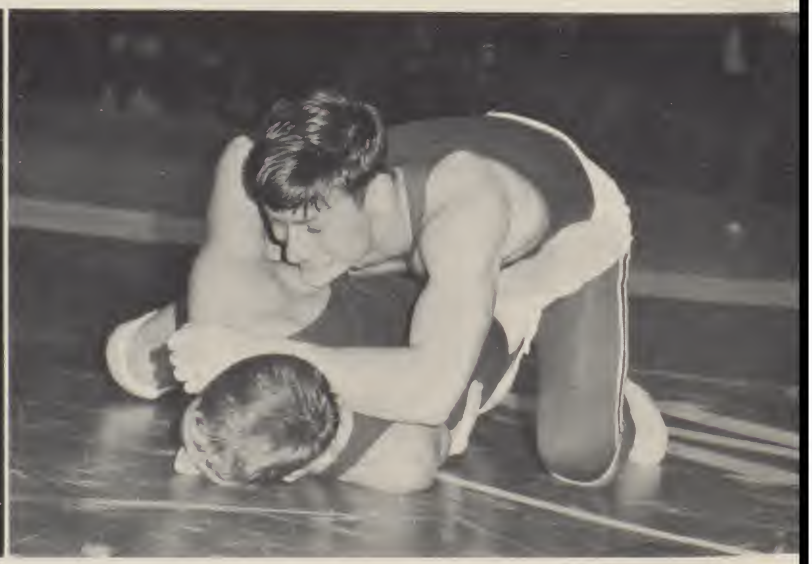
Turning in a record of 4 wins, 4 losses, and 2 ties, this year's Junior Varsity squad, ably coached by Mr. Robert Porter, placed 7th in the Interim League. Coach Porter developed a fine squad of boys in preparation for next year's Varsity.

In Varsity competition, the Niles West squad sent Russell Lain, Steven Brown, Raymond Hendrickson, and Walter Kummerow to the district finals. With their Interim League record of 9, 8, and 1, Coach Charles Anderson's matmen ranked 8th in the League.

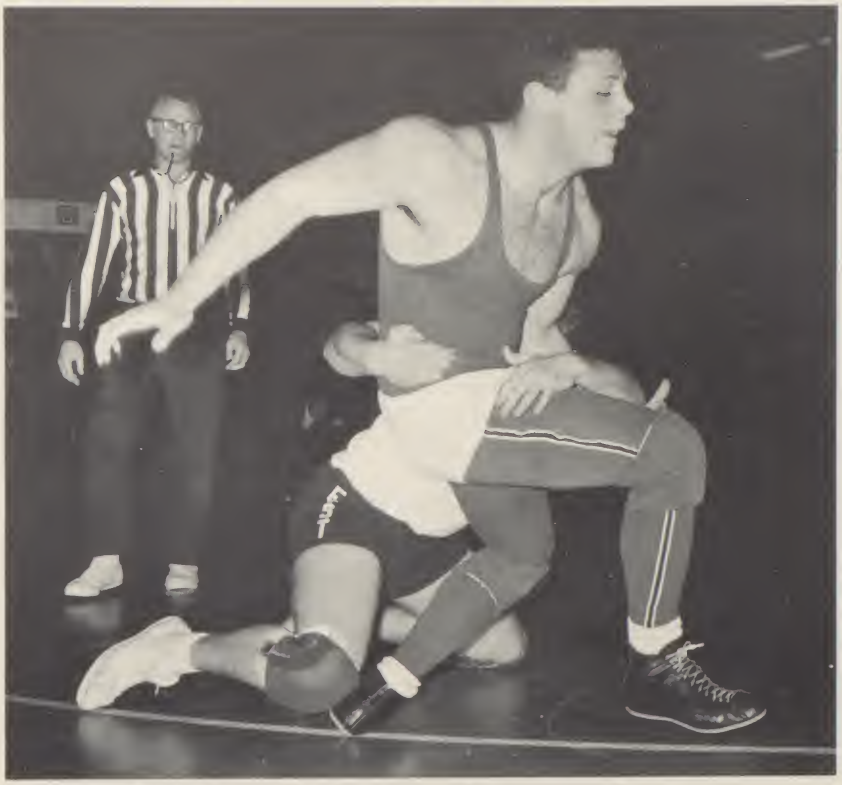
A pause in this match against Alan Stern of Niles East demands all of Walter Kummerow's control and strength to prepare for escape or command of position.



Showing the aggressiveness and combative spirit of the wrestler is Ray Henrickson in a major bout with Jon Peterson of Niles East.



WRESTLING



Interim League champ Steven Brown deftly escapes from Wayne Sherman in a heavyweight match against Glenbard East.

Barry Fiegenbaum sizes up his opposition before moving in on Peter Dilz of New Trier.

FROSH-SOPH

Although the sophomore squad started slowly, by the end of the season it showed great promise in winning four of the last five matches. Under Coach Rex Whitlatch's tutelage the grapplers gained momentum and foretold additional strength for the Indians' prospects in next year's campaign.

Two exceptional freshman wrestlers, Fred Rolak and Barry Gelfand, were elevated to positions on the junior varsity and varsity squads. Consequently, the frosh squad was deprived of two formidable young competitors.

VARSITY

Mr. John Cress coached the varsity Gymnastics team to an overall dual meet record of ten wins, ten losses, and one tie. In Interim League competition, the Indians won six and lost four. Placing seventh in the state district meet, Niles West qualified Martin Roach and Edward Sotello for the semi-finals.

Assistant Coach Jim Phipps' sophomores will have a big job in replacing the graduating seniors, who were regulars in twelve of the possible eighteen starting positions on the team.

Edward Sotello was chosen "most valuable," and James Sitman was voted honorary team captain.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Preservation of the memories of those in a school, as complete as is found in this volume, requires the factors of time and work. Innumeralbe hours spent in frantic preparation by yearbook staff members makes possible the presentation of the Spectrum to the students, faculty, and administration of Niles West.

This rewarding experience would not have been possible without the guidance and advice of the Spectrum sponsors, Mrs. Lois Fisher, Mrs. Deborah Gould, and Mr. William Geismann. The donation of their time throughout the year made the processing of the yearbook run smoothly. The staff thanks them for this and for having alleviated as much chaos as possible from our cause. Thanks to Root Studios of Chicago for the photography, to Mr. Norman Koenig of the Norman King Publishing Company for the publishing and for tolerating the cryptic messages he found in most of the margins after we had proof-read the book. Also, our thanks goes to the faculty and administration for their patience and cooperation. Without these peoples' aid, the Spectrum would never have been possible.

Respectfully,
1963 Spectrum Staff
